If we expect to secure and drive revenue in funeral service today the following is inescapable.

We must deliver our consumers back to their core strengths and values.

- To their families
- To their traditions and values
- To their faith and spirituality
- To their lifestyles
- To their hobbies, interests, and passions.

So that they can effectively grieve and begin to heal in our care. In order to continue down a healthy path of the rest of their own lives.

This is “Life Celebration®”

“We have now become the new, better standard for funeral service in our market, we know it and, more importantly, our community is now realizing it. I can say without hesitation, Life Celebration has saved my family’s business; they have been a blessing to us, our employees and the families we serve.”

“Besides the guidance of my father, a seasoned funeral director of over 30 years, nothing has had a greater impact on me professionally as a funeral director than my training and affiliation with Life Celebration... Our community’s response has been overwhelmingly positive and I cannot imagine funeral directing any other way than with Life Celebration.”

“Life Celebration has gotten us out of the rote process of doing just another funeral. We receive so much satisfaction when we see the surprised look of family members upon entering our Life Celebration home for their Life Celebration. This is what keeps us going, and wanting to grow more and more.”

“Through the training of Life Celebration and after working with Jim Cummings, our eyes were opened to the concept that we are providing experiences and transforming the customer’s expectations of funeral homes. Licensed directors who have had twenty years’ experience will tell me how refreshing it is to learn a new, better way to engage families during this difficult time.”
